

Supertalent in Medicine 2020

I would like to thank everyone for appreciating my contribution to the extensive area of statistical analysis (conducting analysis, making statistical reviews of grants, publications and so on). I have been awarded a great distinction for many years of improving the quality of world biostatistics and reducing the costs incurred by the state related to the treatment of patients taking new psychoactive substances (by implementing published research results). The outstanding members of the jury have appreciated my many years of work. Namely, I have received the title of Supertalent in Medicine 2020. The fact that I have been chosen from a large number of really impressive applicants and assigned to a group of ten winners convinces me even more that what I do is right. Among many people with outstanding scientific achievements, I have found myself in the group of the best. I am very happy with this award! I can't even express how much. I have even more motivation to use my knowledge in order to contribute to improving the quality of human life as much as possible. The fact that I have been elected Supertalent in Medicine 2020 proves that my achievements are of great importance for our society.
